

WANTS TO MARRY ALICE ROOSEVELT. LOVE CAUSES MURDER AND SUICIDE.

SECRET SERVICE OFFICERS ARREST

And Search a Fellow

Who Was Prowling About Sagamore
With a Loaded Revolver.

His Talk Is the Wireless Kind.

After Preliminary Examination Justice Concluded to Hold Him Until an Inquiry Into His Sanity Could Be Made by Proper Officials.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 2.—A man giving his name as Frank Weilbrenner, was arrested at Sagamore Hill, late last night, while making a persistent demand to see President Roosevelt. The man was armed with a revolver fully loaded, and placed in the town prison.

Shortly after 10 o'clock last night, Weilbrenner drove to Sagamore Hill in a phaeton buggy. He was stopped by the secret service operative on duty. Weilbrenner said he had a personal engagement with the president, and desired to see him. As it was long after the hours when visitors are received, the officer declined to permit him to go to the house. The man insisted, but the officer turned him away.

Soon after Weilbrenner returned and again insisted that he be allowed to see the president if only for a minute. This time he was ordered away and warned not to return.

Just before 11 o'clock, the man returned a third time, and demanded of the officer that he should be permitted to see the president at once. The officer's response was to take the man from his buggy and put him in the stable, where he was placed under the guard of two stable men. A revolver was found in the buggy.

Later Weilbrenner was brought to the village and locked up. He is five feet, eight inches high, 28 years old, has a medium sized dark mustache, black eyes, and evidently is of German descent.

He resides in Syosset, about five miles inland, from Oyster Bay. He was well dressed in a suit of dark material, and wore an old fashioned derby. It is thought by the officers that Weilbrenner was accompanied by two other men, as their foot prints were found in the mud along side of the buggy tracks. In view of this fact, the officer on duty telephoned to the village for assistance, and was soon joined by two other secret service men.

While Weilbrenner talked rationally to the officers last night, it seems evident from his conversation today, that he is demented. He said that he had received a telegraphic communication from the president desiring him to call at Sagamore Hill.

Weilbrenner's buggy was taken to a local livery barn. When asked what had become of the rig, Weilbrenner replied: "Oh, the president has taken care of it. That's all right."

Weilbrenner is regarded by those who had seen him to be a dangerous lunatic.

At Syosset, it is learned that the man is the son of a truck farmer, is one of three brothers. He has two sisters. The family is respectable, and is held in general esteem.

Weilbrenner several years ago had a nervous attack which rendered him mentally helpless for a day or two but his family supposed that he had been quite restored by the medical treatment he received at that time. Since then he had manifested no symptoms of mental aberration. He had no socialistic or anarchistic tendencies so far as known, never having been interested in any question of that kind. He was employed daily on his father's farm.

Weilbrenner was arraigned today before Justice Franklin on complaint of the secret service operatives who placed him under arrest. Weilbrenner's brother William was present at the examination. Justice Franklin questioned the prisoner about his movements last night. His replies were made in a quiet tone of voice but they indicated, apparently beyond doubt, that the man is crazy.

Asked why he went to Sagamore Hill, he replied: "I went to see the president about his daughter, Alice."

"Had you an engagement with the president?"

"Yes."

"How was that engagement made?"

"I talked with the president last night," replied Weilbrenner.

"How did you talk with him?"

"Oh, I just talked."

"A sort of wireless talk, was it?"

"Yes, that is it, a wireless talk."

"Why did you want to see the president about Miss Alice?"

"I want to marry her."

"Did you ever see Miss Roosevelt?"

"Yes, I saw her night before last."

"Where did you see her?"

"At my house."

"Did she go over there?"

"Yes, she came in a red automobile."

"Who accompanied her?"

"Her brother, Theodore."

Justice Franklin, after the examination concluded, he would hold Weilbrenner until an inquiry of lunacy could be held upon his case. The examination was then postponed until 5 o'clock this afternoon when physicians who hold certificates entitling them to make inquiries into the sanity of persons could be present.

TWO ROBBERS WERE KILLED

By Brave Deputy Sheriff After Desperate Hand to Hand Encounter.

Baldwin, L. I., Sept. 2.—Deputy Sheriff Louis J. Cook early today shot and killed one burglar, probably fatally wounded a second and captured two others. He discovered them trying to break into a vacant house at Baldwin park. The men are supposed to have belonged to a gang which has been active for several weeks in this section and the deputy had been on the watch for them. The man who was killed had attacked Cook with a corn knife but after a struggle the deputy managed to draw his revolver and fired, the ball piercing the man's side, killing him instantly. After shooting the second man, Cook was joined by Charles Crowley, a resident and they soon captured the two fleeing men. The men are Italians and are thought to be brothers, but they refuse to give their names or tell anything about their lives.

HAD GUESTS AT LUNCHEON.

Some Talked About Appointments,
Some About Indians, and Others Socially.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 2.—President Roosevelt had as guests at luncheon today Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, and one of the latter's constituents, a Mr. Pettit and Dr. J. H. Finley, whose son is to be installed as president of the college of the city of New York. Senator Beveridge came to see the president about some federal appointments in Indiana and to talk with him about the work of the approaching session of congress. Dr. Finley's call was social.

Later the president received I. N. Stevens, a newspaper editor of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Frank Mead, both of whom desired to discuss with him some western matters. Mr. Mead's mission relating particularly to some Indian affairs.

Dover, Eng., Sept. 2.—Montague Holbein, the English swimmer, who left the South Forel yesterday evening in his attempt to swim the English channel has failed again. He left the water eight miles from Calais, France, after swimming seventeen hours and twenty minutes.

Holbein was within four miles of the French coast at eight o'clock this morning, when the tide turned and gradually swept the swimmer towards Dover, causing the abandonment of his attempt.

TWO THOUSAND EAGLES WERE IN THE PARADE.

New York, Sept. 2.—The fraternal order of Eagles had their parade today before going into session to continue their convention at Tammany hall. Mayor Low reviewed the parade. There were over two thousand members in the various lodges which formed the procession, with a number of bands and the distinctive apparel of the lodges gave a picturesque appearance to the marchers.

ELABORATE TOURNAMENT.

All Big States, Army, Navy and the Marine Corps Represented.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 2.—The most elaborate shooting tournament, employing the rifle, revolver, carbines and pistol, this country has ever known opened here today. All the big states are well represented as are the army, navy and the marine corps. Shooting in all the individual competitions, with the exception of the Wimbledon cup and the president's match, was in order. As in these competitions re-entries are allowable, the results will not be known until the close of the meeting.

The conditions for shooting are by no means favorable because of a haze that partly obscures the targets.

COMBUSTION SPONTANEOUS

Caused Large Fire Loss, and Serious Injury to a Fireman.

Cincinnati, O.—Sept. 2.—Fire in the five story building at 204 to 208 Walnut street today, caused a loss of $145,000, the serious injury of Chas. Regan, a fireman, and slight injuries to several other persons by falling glass and explosion of chemicals. The fire started from spontaneous combustion on the third floor of the Schoellkopf, Hartford and Hanna Co., chemicals and dye stuffs, a branch of a Buffalo firm, whose loss was $15,000. Among the other losses were the J. C. McCullough Co., $5,000; Herrlinger Paper Co., $5,000; Seibert, Wuest & Co., $60,000; C. B. Foote on building $15,000.

From this the prosecutor read selected sections on the duties of directors and officials showing how the various duties are delegated from one to another but they all are responsible for the carrying out of the rules of the company.

Tragic Killing and Suicide in Aristocratic New York District, Caused by Woman's Refusal to Elope With Insanely Jealous Admirer.

New York, Sept. 2.—Henry F. Edson, 30 years old, of 292 west 92nd street, shot and killed Mrs. Fannie Pullen 33 years old, of 673 West End avenue today, and then shot and killed himself. The double tragedy occurred at Edson's residence.

The murderer and suicide was Henry Townsend Edson, aged 39 years a son of Mayor Franklin Edson and a brother of Dr. Cyrus Edson. Edson is said to have been insanely jealous of the woman and wanted her to go away with him.

The shooting occurred in the presence of Dr. David O. Edson, the suicide's brother, his wife, Mrs. Henry T. Edson, and a baggage mover, Thomas Wood. The families of Henry Townsend Edson and Dr. Edson have lived together in the ninety-second street house for a number of months. Today Henry T. Edson was to vacate and leave the city for a short time.

According to the police and Woods, the furniture man, Edson had begged Mrs. Pullen to elope with him.

Dr. Edson told his brother that he should be ashamed to make a proposal in the presence of his wife. Townsend Edson became wildly excited and could not be calmed. He kept entreating Mrs. Pullen to leave the house with him and go to another state but she refused.

When Woods entered the house, he says he saw Townsend point his revolver towards Mrs. Pullen and heard him say to her:

"You must go with me. If you do not elope with me, I'll see that you go with me any way."

Then Townsend fired two shots in quick succession. The first struck Mrs. Pullen in the right side of the forehead, and the second bullet ploughed through the left cheek tearing the flesh. Mrs. Pullen ran a few steps when she fell. Edson then turned the revolver on himself, firing two shots. The first shot went through his head, the second entered the left breast near the heart. He dropped to the floor, his head falling across the woman's feet. Both died almost instantly.

Recently Henry T. Edson had quarrelled with his wife and finally decided that he would leave her. He had sent for Mrs. Pullen, who was a friend of the family, and she came to the house not knowing what was wanted. Mrs. Pullen and Dr. Edson were seated about the dining room table. Edson is said to have told his wife he could not live with her any longer and said that it would be better if they separated. This request was refused by Mrs. Edson and the approaching trouble was quieted for the time.

Suddenly it is said, Edson turned to Mrs. Pullen, in the presence of his wife and his brother, and asked her to go away with him to some other state, where they could be happy. Mrs. Pullen indignantly refused the proposal, and turned away from Edson. Dr. Edson severely reprimanded his brother for making any such remarks, and then left the room, with Mrs. Edson. Almost immediately afterwards the shooting occurred.

Mrs. Pullen was the wife of John F. Pullen, an auditor at the Grand Central station. She had two children. Mrs. Pullen and Mrs. Edson had been intimate friends for eleven years.

Had Love Affair.

Coroner Jackson, after an investigation said: "The evidence from my investigation shows that the murder and suicide was premeditated. I have found letters and other papers in Edson's possession in the house that show that he had had a love affair." When asked if the "love affair" was with Mrs. Pullen, the coroner said he could not answer, but spoke as if it was not.

Charged With Defaulting.

New York, Sept. 2.—John F. Pullen, the husband of the murdered woman, in a statement says, that Edson, as clerk of St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal church had forged and defaulted. He declared that the furniture belonging to Edson was being packed up today to be sent to the Rev. Dr. John C. Peters, rector of the church "partly," to reimburse the church. The shooting he said, was not premeditated. He declared that Edson attempted to shoot Mrs. Edson first, saying that he would end it all by killing his wife and himself, but accidentally shot Mrs. Pullen.

LIPTON PUTS AN ANSWER

To Stories About Deposing Captain If Shamrock Had a Chance.

New York, Sept. 2.—Sir Thomas Lipton, today, emphatically denied persistent rumors that he had made these two assertions: First—That if there was any chance for Shamrock to win he would depose Captain Wringe and put the yacht under control or mate Bevis, and second, that Shamrock was found too long for her speedy trials and that in bringing her up to the proper measurement she had been stripped so much as to lose her speed. Sir Thomas declared that he had perfect faith in his designer, his captain and his crew. All had done well and were still doing their best.

FINE STRING OF FAST ONES

Will Divide the Honors With Dan Patch on Labor Day.

Entry List Assures Four Days of Splendid Racing, in Which a Number of Well Known Local Horses Will Participate.

Those who are fortunate enough to be present at the Driving Park Co's race meeting on Labor day, and the three days following, will witness some fine racing and fast time, aside from the chief attraction—Dan Patch's effort to lower the record made by his illustrious sire Joe Patchen. It will be an eventful week, not only for the legitimate sportsman, but for every admirer of light-harness racing, as the entries now in the hands of the secretary are abundant proof that the meeting will be the most enjoyable of any ever held in Lima, or even in Northwestern Ohio.

The very richness of everything at the grounds adds to the interest, and the removal of the many eyesores which detracted from the beauty and comfort of the old grounds, leaves the park, in its present condition, one which is sure to receive the plaudits and unstinted praise of the thousands who will be present.

A score of well known horses, including several prime favorites of past seasons, owned by local reinsmen will be stabled at the park, and entered in the events most to their liking; and from the other race courses are coming some of the speedy ones, with marks which necessitate the fastest kind of driving.

Dan Patch, most naturally, will be the drawing card, and to have such a grand attraction on a holiday, when most people can enjoy it without the weight of business cares, is a coup which the Driving Park Co., accomplished in the face of many such demands on the owner of the great pacer. His very presence here, for the purpose of dedicating the new park, has widely advertised Lima as a racing city, and the future of the company is already assured. If there is smiling weather, it is a safe prediction that the largest crowd in the history of the track will be present.

PORTO RICO.

Article Third.

Being the last of a series of three interesting articles written for the Times-Democrat, by W. R. Strayer.

A steamboat leaves New York every Saturday for Porto Rico, and it requires from four to five days to make the trip according to the boat on which you take passage, and there is no stop after leaving New York until arrival at San Juan. The accommodations are good on all of these boats. There is also a steamship line between New Orleans and San Juan, and one between Cuba and San Juan; there are lines also from France, Spain and Venezuela, to say nothing of some freight steamships from the States and the "tramp" steamers. These "tramp" steamers are ships that trade among the numerous islands, having no regular schedules, and no wharf privileges; they will anchor in the harbor or sea, and whatever they get in the way of trade is taken from the shore to the vessel in lighters—small open boats of light draft.

Morro Castle is the first object of interest seen as we near the harbor's mouth at San Juan, and soon after passing it and into the harbor, is the governor's palace and the sea wall just below it.

The harbor entrance is narrow, the harbor itself is not a deep one, and our largest war ships do not enter it.

The city is situated upon a hill a hundred feet or more above the sea level, and its houses are generally of two stories, with flat roofs made of brick and cement. The buildings of any one square are built right up to each other, and anyone gaining access to the roof one house of the block, can go over the tops of all the houses of that particular block. Each house has an opening or door to the roof, also a front door opening on the street; these two are the only entrances to the house or to any house on the block. There are no alley ways nor are there any back yards, only open courts for each house for light and ventilation. The construction of the houses is better explained by saying that they are built around the courts, and the rooms of the first story are the homes of the city's laboring people, while above or on the second story are the homes of the well-to-do. But the best people consider themselves fortunate if they can live above a store, instead of above the poorer families below and these second stories, containing nine or ten rooms, will rent for from forty to one hundred dollars per month. There is only one way to get into the street and that is by the one door which opens into it; all the supplies come in the same way, and all the garbage goes out the same door. Now as to the windows, if you will open the latticed shutters which reach upward ten feet or more from the floor you will see neither sash nor glass, but inside will be another pair of heavy solid shutters or doors which we might call storm doors; these when closed, are fastened by means of a heavy wooden bar reaching from one side of the window frame to the other. The ceilings of the houses are high, often eighteen or twenty feet.

The houses being built in solid blocks are a great protection, and you will scarcely notice a high wind. The streets are narrow, not more than eighteen or twenty feet from curb to curb, and the sidewalks are not more than from three to five feet from curb to building. The streets are cleaned by prisoners under guard. There are many large wholesale and retail stores in San Juan, coffee, sugar, tobacco and dry goods establishments taking the lead. But no man can buy himself a shirtwaist in Porto Rico, he must wear a coat; only the peon dares to forget good manners in this regard; but even he will wear a coat more frequently than not. Manana (man-yah-ah) (to-morrow), and poco tiempo, (a little while), are two expressions used by the Portorican; he is rarely ready to do anything at the time you want it done.

The city is small, less than three quarters of a mile square, and with its suburbs contains thirty-two thousand inhabitants; it is situated on an island which is connected with the main island by a bridge of masonry on the military road leading from San Juan to Ponce; also by two railroad bridges. But this island has much more area than the city proper occupies, for the greater portion is a military reservation, made so by the Spanish government and is not open to settlement yet, but there were in 1898, and still are, many plain dwellings and shacks upon it put up by squatters, so to speak, whose property rights have no standing in law, and are subject to summary removal at the pleasure of the government.

They have three meals per day, and the first is called "coffee"; it consists of a cup of coffee, bread and butter and one fried egg; at 12:30 p. m. you will get a good square meal, and this they call "breakfast", dinner at about 5:30 or 6:00 p. m. is also a good meal. The butter is imported and usually sells at from forty to fifty cents per pound. No butter is made on the island. With one whiff you can blow all of the cream which rises on a creek of milk over night to the open air side of the creek. The milk is usually kept as soon as milked, and butter is not considered the more important point being to keep the milk from souring and this is accomplished by the boiling.

The only ice available is the manufactured article and only a few of the towns or cities have factories for making it. Americans and most of the well-to-do natives either filter or boil drinking water.

Sunday is the day for all such things as cock fights, etc. the biggest dances are held then, and you can satisfy your thirst as on any other day, the bar rooms being open seven days each week.

The police system is different from ours, and, with the exception of two or three towns, the actual bona fide resident of a city cannot be elected to police duty in that city; each city gets its police from the "Insular Police Force." The resident police make a poor record when allowed to do duty in their own town or neighborhood, and the system is to be changed. The "Insular Police" is composed of something like seven hundred men, with a chief at the head. These men are enlisted for two years, and assignments are made by the chief to the various towns and cities; they are not allowed to spend the whole of their enlisted time at any one place.

Regars are allowed to come to San Juan every Saturday, but generally Friday afternoon will find many of them in the city.

The change of money from the Spanish to the American currency caused much confusion and inconvenience, not to say hardship, for awhile but United States money is understood now and all seem satisfied.

The organic law of the island provides that all taxes in the aggregate shall not exceed in amount 1 per cent of the assessed value of the property which is taxed, and there are no tariff charges between Porto Rico and the United States, in other words, the trade conditions are the same as between the different states of the United States. The United States has also done away with the export tax levied by Spain upon the products of Porto Rico which were shipped from this island to other countries.

Many parties who come to the island for a good look at it do not trust to public conveyances for getting from place to place, but instead take the plan of buying a few ponies which they will dispose of after completing the tour and find this arrangement better than to trust to the uncertainty of hiring a horse or team at the various places, for much of the tour is necessary on horseback anyhow, and to get a good pony at the outside is not only a saving of time and patience, but is cheaper and more comfortable. No mare is ever used under the saddle, or in any vehicle except by the peon, and every member of the party will ride a

PERFECT ASSIMILATION

Some people eat heartily, even ravenously, yet nothing seems to "stick to their ribs". Others don't eat much, but assimilate all nutriment in the food and get fat. We have letters from people who say that makes them fat. It doesn't. It simply gets their digestive organs in shape to take the nutriment out of the foods which they eat. It also acts as a gentle laxative and tonic. Please try it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

A. C. Jones, of Haverhill, Ind., writes: "I can say for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that it is one of the best medicines I ever have taken. I just went days after I began to take your medicine. I had gained 20 pounds in weight, I ate a new man and I can highly recommend it to any one who is troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia."

The only ice available is the manufactured article and only a few of the towns or cities have factories for making it. Americans and most of the well-to-do natives either filter or boil drinking water.

Sunday is the day for all such things as cock fights, etc. the biggest dances are held then, and you can satisfy your thirst as on any other day, the bar rooms being open seven days each week.

The police system is different from ours, and, with the exception of two or three towns, the actual bona fide resident of a city cannot be elected to police duty in that city; each city gets its police from the "Insular Police Force." The resident police make a poor record when allowed to do duty in their own town or neighborhood, and the system is to be changed. The "Insular Police" is composed of something like seven hundred men, with a chief at the head. These men are enlisted for two years, and assignments are made by the chief to the various towns and cities; they are not allowed to spend the whole of their enlisted time at any one place.

Regars are allowed to come to San Juan every Saturday, but generally Friday afternoon will find many of them in the city.

The change of money from the Spanish to the American currency caused much confusion and inconvenience, not to say hardship, for awhile but United States money is understood now and all seem satisfied.

The organic law of the island provides that all taxes in the aggregate shall not exceed in amount 1 per cent of the assessed value of the property which is taxed, and there are no tariff charges between Porto Rico and the United States, in other words, the trade conditions are the same as between the different states of the United States. The United States has also done away with the export tax levied by Spain upon the products of Porto Rico which were shipped from this island to other countries.

Many parties who come to the island for a good look at it do not trust to public conveyances for getting from place to place, but instead take the plan of buying a few ponies which they will dispose of after completing the tour and find this arrangement better than to trust to the uncertainty of hiring a horse or team at the various places, for much of the tour is necessary on horseback anyhow, and to get a good pony at the outside is not only a saving of time and patience, but is cheaper and more comfortable. No mare is ever used under the saddle, or in any vehicle except by the peon, and every member of the party will ride a

Doctors Could Not Help Her.

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond, corner of Shelton Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured. I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." It makes the diseased kidneys sound so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood.

A Few Pencil Paragraphs About People You Know—Several Needed Improvements
Being Made.

Some time Monday night a thief or thieves with a penchant for booze and smokes entered the saloon of the Blue south Main street and carried away about $50 worth of cigars, whisky and $1 in change. The proprietors were evidently home-talent and well acquainted with the place, as investigations show that the rear window had been unlocked from the inside during the day and left in shape for midnight entrance. Suspects are being watched.

Another Attempt at Robbery.

At the Bowers home on Circular street the discovery of a bold, but bungler, caused no little excitement the other evening. Robert Bowers, the paternal head of the household is an avowed and needing some assistance. He is a father of three children. The front door had been left unlocked for his son Robert to return, and just as the daughter entered her father's room to assist him, she heard the door open and thinking it was Al called to him, but Al did not come. An investigation revealed a powder standing on the porch and upon an alarm being sound he quickly made an exit down an ally. There are several suspicious looking fellows hanging about the south side, but they are under police surveillance and will probably be told to move on.

Gene to Colorado.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brookhardt left yesterday for Florence, Colorado, in the hope of benefiting their health in the scenic Grace church loses two members and working workers who will be missed.

Funeral Notes.
After a short service at the bearing home on Greenlawn avenue, the remains of Thaddeus Banger, who died Monday morning were taken to Ada for interment.

The funeral of Alben Eda Lay, aged 15 of East Elm street

To withstand excessive heat the system must be fortified with sufficient vital force to repel the insidious power of the sun.

Those who are easily overcome, who feel the heat oppressive, should insure against its fatalities by building a fund of vitality such as Hagee's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil of Lime and Soda alone can build.

It generates vitality; invigorates and strengthens every tissue and nerve in the body; replenishes impoverished blood and furnishes sustaining power that will withstand both heat and bodily wear. Pleasant to take. Contains no grease—no fishy flavor.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the last sad rites were performed over the remains of Little Nellie Cox, of Fourth street, at the Solarville church, Rev. Davis of the U. B. congregation, officiating.

Anniversary Social.
A few of Irvin Ridgeour's friends remembered him by giving him a little surprise Monday evening, that being his 26th birthday anniversary. A general good time was had by all present.

New W. F. M. Officers.
Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Bates, south Main street, the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, of Grace church, elected officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. A. S. Rudy, president; Mrs. A. Nelswander, first vice president; Mrs. Anna Morris, second vice president; Mrs. G. A. Herrett, secretary, and Mrs. Mary Cox, treasurer.

Infant Passes Away.
Yesterday morning the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dunahay, of 515 East Second street, died. Little Marie Magdalene had been a sufferer from stomach trouble about four months. The funeral will be held at the Dunahay home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Sims, officiating. Interment will be made at Woodlawn cemetery.

Moved to Logan.
Mr. and Mrs. George Cochran, of Hughes avenue, left for Crystal, Michigan, where Mr. Cochran has purchased a farm, and where they expect to make their future home.

Sees Strange Things.
A south sider, or some other kind of a sider, is telling that he noticed a few snow flakes during the light rain the other day. Now you can see most any old thing on the south side, but when it comes to seeing snow in August it looks a change of dope.

Noisy Reception.
You ought to be thankful you did not live in the vicinity of Pine and Kibby streets night before last, for the belling administered to M. C. Rickert and his newly made bride was something fierce. They howled, rang bells, pounded wash basins, tin pans, etc. till you couldn't hear yourself think. In fact, there was great rejoicing especially when M. C. went down in his pocket and dug up a few simoleons for a treat.

Bran New Babies.
Mr. and Mrs. Al Moore, of south Main street, have welcomed an eight pound girl baby to their home.

Ed J. Mellett 243 East Kibby street, who is employed by the Newson Bond Co. is moving things every old way today all on account of the arrival of a two pound girl at his home.

Leah Smith who has been conducting a fruit store on south Main street in the Harvey block has disposed of his belongings and leaves for Minnesota in a few days, where he will embark in business.

Improvements Heralded.
This morning the board of public works passed resolutions to pave Circular street from Main to West street.

A new floor is being put down for the south Main street bridge another welcome and much-needed improvement.

A new side walk on Tann 1 avenue from Vine street to the C & E is an appreciated event.

Puts On New Train.
Yesterday, trainmaster J. H. Klein and division engineer F. J. Moirer, of the C & E, were in this city, and among other needed improvements put an additional local train in service between Lima and Marion. The new train will be known as the switch train.

Parochial Progress.
One year ago the St. John's parochial schools opened, under the supervision of Father Frederick G. Rapert, with 150 pupils. This school year opened with an attendance of over 255 pupils. An extra music teacher has been employed, and the school is much crowded, in fact it looks like a new addition school rooms before the end of this school year. Father Rapert tells us that a new church will have to be built within the next year or two, in order to accommodate the members of that faith if increase continues at the present rate.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually have a hat that's in style, but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Hats are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasite germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff it is a sure sign that these "count-down" germs are much at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbros' Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by Wm. M. McVivie, old post office corner. Send to cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

In His Opinion.

"My golly," said the old settler "And so you're the chap that used to be little Sammy Simpson. Squinty Simpson we used to call you I think."

"Yes," replied the distinguished looking gentleman, "I'm Sammy Simpson."

"Well, well, well! And they say you're making $15,000 or $20,000 a year up to the city."

"Yes, along about that."

"By George! Them p'ople up there must have wads of money to throw at every blame fool that comes along. I guess!" —Chicago Record Herald.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.
"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Woodland, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble."

H. F. Vorkamp, corner Main and North streets.

A Hard Slap.

"I had searched taken a dozen more steps," continued Mr. Borem, "when right before my feet I saw a yawning abyss."

Indeed, exclaimed Miss Wren, ostentatiously imitating the abyss, "I don't suppose it began to yawn until you got near it." —Philadelphia Ledger.

Used for Pneumonia.

Dr. J. C. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., says, "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case. Refuse substitutes."

FREIGHT HANDLERS STRIKE.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 2.—The members of the freight handlers union about 550 in number went out on a strike today. They asked for forty cents an hour which was refused. They had been getting thirty cents. The strike more especially affects the Southern Pacific Steamship company at this time. The members of the Interior Electrical Workers union also struck today, demanding forty-five cents an hour. They had been getting thirty-five cents. All of the new buildings in the city under construction are affected.

A New Jersey Editor's Testimonial.
M. T. Lynch, editor of the Phillipsburg, N. J. Daily Post, writes, "I have used many kinds of medicine for colds and coughs in my family but never anything so good as Foley's Honey and Tar. I cannot say too much in praise of it."

H. F. Vorkamp, corner Main and North streets.

WHAT DID IT COST?

London, Sept. 2.—The engagement is announced of Miss May Goelet to the Duke of Roxburgh. The Duke of Roxburgh is now the guest of Mrs. Ogden Goelet, mother of Miss May Goelet, at Newport, R. I.

THE STAGE.

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles." A drama that is almost "Ibsenque" in its scholarly treatment of a psychological subject, is "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" which is to be seen at Faurot opera house tonight.

While the story of the play is tragic and possesses all the intensity of the novel, the dramatist has not neglected to accentuate the humorous elements in certain of the characters.

Miss Rebecca Warren, who is to be seen in the role of "Tess" when the play is produced here, will be remembered as leading lady for Mr. E. H. Sothron for several seasons. She was selected by Manager Frank Burt to be starred in this character, as the most acceptable leading lady in America to portray this most exacting part. It is promised that it will be given with all the original scenery and stage business, and by a most excellent company in Miss Warren's support. No dramatized novel of recent date created a greater success than did "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" when it was produced in New York, and it is fortunate for the American stage, that so worthy a play is to be continued.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels.

Haverly's mastodon minstrels this season put forward as their star vocalist, an interior, Geo. M. Vail, bass, so profound, formerly of the Bostonians, and late of "The Runaways" now playing at the Casino, New York city and he is expected to create somewhat of a sensation with that huge voice of his. Other prominent singers with the company are Dedrick J. Voigt, a southern lad with a pleasing Olcott tenor; Frank Coombs, the better carriers' lyric tenor; Charles Richards, baritone. Samuel Nanfreville also and George Marsh, the famous English contralto.

The soloists are supported by a chorus of fresh young voices and a symphony orchestra of fifteen, under the direction of Frank Fuhrer, the Paganini of minstrel leaders. Haverly's minstrels will be at Faurot opera house tomorrow night.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, Sept. 2.—For Ohio, fair tonight; Thursday partly cloudy, showers in northern portion.

The water supply decreases and interest on water works extension bonds increases.

We have a hunch that Dan Patch will go crowned king of pacers in Lima on Labor Day, and this with all honor to Lou Dillon, queen of all trotters.

When we take our hands off the 30,000,000 Filipinos we are holding down then it will be good time for us to lecture the Turks. Gen. Lew Wall-lace.

Under the municipal code, the people of Ohio are serfs. Elect Tom L.
Johnson and a democratic legislature pledged to a platform of home rule, and just taxation and you will be free citizens.

Sir Thomas Lipton should be bountifully appreciative of the American newspaper. It has used thousands and thousands of pounds of printer's ink

in an effort to be nice to him, yet his stay has been remarkable for the lack of wind.

That beautiful public improvement touching Cole, and streets passing through the park addition, originated for public expense and private gain, will soon develop into one of the snuggest lawsuits this metropolis has enjoyed for some years. The combined damages asked for cellars injured by back water, during the last decade, will look like the paltry thirty cents, when the issue comes. Meanwhile there are some sewers needed, where people live.

In anticipation of the home rule reign that Johnson will inaugurate after the November election, the republican machine has commenced an organized effort to defeat it, and keep the people throttled by a republican municipal code. The first step to this end came yesterday, when suit was brought by a Cleveland attorney, and tool of the corporations to oust the Johnson board of elections in that city, and secure the appointment of new board by the governor. If the plan succeeds, it will take elections in Cuyahoga county away from the people, and put them in the hands of the machine. Hanna knows he cannot defeat the will of the voters there by any other method. It is a desperate move to defeat home rule, and fairness but with a United States senatorship, a ship subsidy bill, and the perpetuity of a protective tariff as the stake, it is not strange the daring chance is taken.

FAILURE

To Make a Ca Released
Defendant

The case in which Mary Place was made defendant on an affidavit filed by the humane officer, charging her with cruelty and neglect of several children alleged to have been born out of wedlock. Probate Judge Miller dismissed the proceeding this afternoon, having failed to make a case according to the allegations and the testimony submitted at a hearing held in the common pleas court room this afternoon.

NEW TRIAL
WAS REFUSED

Alfred Knapp Convicted of Wife Murder and is Charged With More.

Hamilton, O., Sept. 2.—Judge Beiden today refused a new trial for Alfred A. Knapp, the self-confessed murderer of two of his wives and three other victims.

The court fixed December 12th for the execution. Knapp took the decision with indifference and made no statement. He will be taken to Columbus for electrocution.

The Trials of an Editor.

In the rush yesterday, we omitted to print a report of the ball game the day before between Sheldon and Le Mars and as a result three non-pay subscriptionists came thundering into the office and wanted to know if we were dead. Ingrates! Damphools! If they have missed as few meals as we have reports of the ball games, both last year and this, they haven't gone hungry more than twice. The game was won by Sheldon, score 6 to 4.—

SENATE ETIQUETTE.

It Came Near Making Roosevelt Miss McKinley's Inauguration.

A vice president seated in solitary grandeur in the senate chamber, while the ceremony of a presidential inauguration to which he has been invited as an honored guest is going on outside, surely presents a spectacle with an element of humor in it. Few persons know how near Theodore Roosevelt came to playing such a part on the 4th of March, 1901. The senate stickles so for minor details of etiquette that the most strenuous reformer would hardly venture to transgress its rules, and they require that a formal motion to adjourn shall be put before a day's session can come to an end. After his inauguration as vice president in the senate chamber Mr. Roosevelt took the gavel and, when the routine business was finished, directed the sergeant at arms, as usual, to proceed with the ceremony of inaugurating Mr. McKinley as president.

It was then in order for some senator to move an adjournment, but in the confusion nobody seemed to have his wits about him, and the whole assemblage, including the senators, quitted the chamber for the east portico, where the oath was to be administered and the address delivered. In a few minutes the vice president found himself alone, with a fair prospect of remaining so until the day's performances were over, but it chanced that Senator Helfield missed his hat while passing through the corridor and came back to look for it. Face to face with the vice president, it occurred to the senator that something must be wrong, so with the utmost gravity he moved "that the senate do now adjourn." Mr.
Roosevelt, with equal solemnity, put the motion, declared it carried and proceeded in Mr. Helfield's company to the place on the presidential stand which had been reserved for him.—

ILL NATURED BRUTES.

Endurance and Carrying Power the Only Good Traits in Camels.

As we have racers and cart horses, so the Arabs and the natives of northeastern Africa have breeds of camels severally adapted for riding and for carrying burdens. It is to the fast riding and racing camels that the name dromedary alone applies, so that this term—the Greek equivalent of "racer"— indicates merely a breed and not a particular species.

All the camels of Arabia and Africa, as well as those employed in India, belong to the single humped species, which is a lightly built and long limbed animal in comparison with its double humped relative, the Bactrian camel of central Asia. Not improbably some of the herds of the latter species which are found in the neighborhood of the Gobi desert are the descendants of aboriginally wild animals, but the Arabian camel is quite unknown in a wild state, and we are even ignorant of its birthplace, although it is quite likely that this may have been north Africa or the neighborhood of the Arabian desert. For traversing desert tracts camels are absolutely indispensable. Their broad cushionlike hoofs proclaim them essentially animals of the desert, and a camel is absolutely helpless on a wet and slippery inclined road.

As if conscious that man cannot do without them, camels are some of the worst tempered and ill natured brutes in creation, and, save for their endurance and the heavy loads they can carry, no one has a good word to say in their favor. If a camel can bite a mounted traveler whom he may be passing in a narrow road, he will never fail to avail himself of the opportunity, and the bubbling noise made by a "maat" camel at night will destroy the rest of an entire camp.—London Illustrated News.

ously:

"A mon offered me a dram, an' wt

WILLFUL

Absence Is the Basis of a Suit

Which Brings a Divorce Action Into Court.

Docket Proves That Complainants
Have Been Wedded in Other Cities and Came Here
for Separation.

Elizabeth Kennedy has an action for divorce on file in common pleas court today charging gross neglect of duty and willful absence for a period of time covered by the law. They were married in Lima, Aug. 17, 1895, and have a son seven years of age. The rather, who is made defendant in the case, has failed to support his wife and child, and his whereabouts are unknown to the wife, who brings an action for separation through Mutter, Mackenzie and Weadock.

Getting Ready for Business.
Judge Cunningham is home from his annual visit to northern Canada and will have a session of court to preside over next week, unless it can be arranged to bring Judge Mathers or Judge Armstrong here for the session.

During the judge's absence the docket has increased in number of cases and it is not lacking in divorce suits, which have piled up with amazing rapidity since His Honor went to the wilds of north America. Many of the cases of that character have come from outside counties where the marriage occurred, which bears out the proposition of the court, that Lima,
as a business center, has offered a home which is truly cosmopolitan, and the long list of applicants for a divorce have not, as a rule, secured their licenses in Allen county.

The oil district brings a number of such cases into court and it is not a reflection on the morals of the city to record three or four cases of failure in marital life, considering that the principals are not strictly speaking born and raised within its borders.

The Marriage List.

The marriage license docket shows a half dozen or more applicants for licenses including the following:
Chas. M. Clapper 23 and Matilda Seibold, 17; Harley Boggs and Laura Estella Baxter, 18; Omer H. O'Dell, 26 and Alice B. Stuckey, 20; Wilbert C.
Mann, 27, and Edith M. Luginbill, 26.

ter, 39; Lewis John Hoffman and Clara Mary Crum.

INSURGENT LEADER
WITH STRONG FORCE

Operating Southward and Has Been Entrusted With Task of Destroying All Bridges.
Adrianople Reported in Flames.

Belgrade, Servia, Sept. 2.—An unconfirmed report is again published here that Adrianople is in flames.
Exercising Severity.

Constantinople, Sept. 2.—According to government advices Col. Jankoff, the insurgent leader who, with a strong following, is operating southward of Demotika, has been entrusted with the task of destroying the larger bridges of the railroad running from Dedagatch, on the south coast, to Kuleli Burgas, over the Maritza and Arda rivers, so as to cut off communication with Adrianople from the south, and delay the troops who are on their way to the threatened city. The government believes it has taken measures which will bring about a speedy and, it is hoped, decisive battle with the insurgent forces, commanded by Col. Jankoff. The palace officials were in constant communication with the authorities at Adrianople throughout

Monday formulating plans to master the situation in the Villyayet. The crowds which witnessed last night's illuminations here in honor of the anniversary of the accession of the Sultan were not so large as usual.

The police recently have been exercising great severity towards the Muslims suspected of inciting trouble in the disturbed villayets, and have arrested and banished large numbers.
While the Russian squadron was in Izida bay, no less than 142 Muslims were expelled on account of their uncooperative hostility to Russia.

Great Uprising.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 2.—A local newspaper announces this afternoon that a great insurrection was proclaimed today in new districts of Turkey across the southern frontier of Bulgaria. The rising is headed by the famous Macedonian leaders, Gen.
Zontcheff, president of the Macedonian committee, and Colonel Jackoff.

BRYAN WILL NOT TALK SILVER.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Col.
Wm. J. Bryan, accompanied by senatorial candidate John H. Clarke, Frank B. Niles, candidate for lieutenant governor; State Chairman Garber and others, arrived here shortly before noon today. This was democratic day at the state fair and Bryan, Clarke and Niles came to discuss economics, without taking partisan politics. Gov.
Geo. K. Nash, republican, presided at the democratic meeting.

Bryan's visit brought hundreds of democrats here from all over the state all desiring to learn of Bryan's indorsement of Clarke for United States senator. To them all he said he desired and will work for Clarke's election, despite the past differences of opinion on the silver question. While trank in his indorsement of Clarke, Bryan refused to discuss the silver question for publication or to say whether he still considered it an issue.

REFUSED LIQUOR
HE SHOT SALOONIST

Who Will Probably Die, and Then Suicided by Pistol Route—Evidence Shows the Deed Was Premeditated.

Wooster, Ohio, Sept. 2.—At a late hour last night Harry Laubach, aged twenty, of this city, attempted to kill Mox. Leese, saloonkeeper, formerly of Cleveland, in his place of business at Orville. Angered because Leese refused to sell him liquor, Laubach fired four shots at Leese and made his escape through the rear door of the saloon. The first shot struck Leese just back of the right cheek bone, passing downward and lodged on the left side. The doctors say Leese cannot recover.

Laubach's dead body was found near his boarding place early today he having fired two shots in a successful attempt to kill himself, the first making a glancing wound across the forehead and the second entered the right temple and lodged in the left side of the neck.

Carbolic acid found on his person, leads to the belief that suicide was premeditated. Laubach had acted queerly for some days and it is thought was temporarily insane.

What You Ought To Know About Ohio Tax Laws

A DISCUSSION BY LAWYER THORNDIKE AND FARMER PERKINS

NUMBER FOUR (To Be Completed in Ten Numbers.)

TAXATION OF MONEY AND CREDITS.

FARMER PERKINS—The Ohio tax list requires the value of all moneys in possession, or on deposit, on the days preceding the second Monday of April, to be returned. Is that done as required by law?

Lawyer Thorndike—It is not. Those persons who have any conscience in tax matters (and that number is growing smaller each year) pay out all their moneys before that day, but the most of them pay no attention to the matter. Some of them escape their consciences by saying to themselves they owe as much as they have money on hand, and hence make no return, but in fact very little money is returned. In the country towns and in some city districts money is returned because its presence is known and because of the return of some amount prevents an inquiry by the boards of equalization.

Farmers Perkins—Is there no way to compel or force citizens to return their money on hands on grand levy day?

Lawyer Thorndike—Practically, there is not. The laws as to penalties for non-return, or insufficient return, are a dead letter. The tax penalties are never enforced. The return of moneys for taxation is with some a matter of conscience, and with all others it is a matter of how to escape inquiry from the boards of review.

The practical working of the law since 1846, for fifty-seven years, has been that money can not be reached. The state ought not to attempt to tax that which it can not reach, as the attempt is demoralizing to the state and to the taxpayer.

Farmers Perkins—How about the return of credits under item 14 of the Ohio tax list?

Lawyer Thorndike—The average taxpayer will only return such credits as he believes the public has knowledge of. If he thinks his credits are not known to the public, he will return none.

The policy of the law is to induce the taxpayer to secrete all his business from the public, and he does it right well. The state has no method to compel the taxpayer to state his credits and return the same. Any method it might adopt would be more expensive than the amount of taxes realized, and hence the law is incapable of enforcement, except in a case here and there. These exceptional cases, where there is an attempt to enforce it, simply call attention to its impotence. It is wrong and unjust to enforce it in one instance and leave it unenforced in a thousand other cases. The citizen against whom it is enforced feels that it is spite work on the part of the taxing officers, because his neighbors escape and he is singled for life. He determines that he will never be caught a second time and he never is. He becomes a student of the subject, "How to Escape Taxation," and as the lesson is readily and easily learned, he becomes a master in it. I give an instance. One spinster returned $5,000 credits for years. The county auditor thought she ought to have returned $10,000 and tried to make her do it. He failed and she left the state. The tax on the $5,000 which she had returned for years was purely a voluntary contribution on her part for the sake of peace. She would have escaped it from the start, but when the taxing officers sought to compel her to double her burden she learned how to avoid taxation and practiced it. By doing it she saved $100 per year, which she learned she might have saved for years before. She despises the Ohio system, and rightfully, too. A spasmodic enforcement of the law is worse than none at all.

Farmers Perkins—What has been the effect of the attempt to tax credits in Ohio?

Lawyer Thorndike—It has kept up the rate of interest on loans nearly 2 per cent above what it would have been had there been no attempt to make credits a subject of taxation. The state expected to obtain this excess of interest in taxes, but it never obtained it and never will. The creditor class escapes it from the debtor class for the tax is not being levied, which is easily avoided. The theory of taxation of credits is that it is an equally burdensome tax on both classes. Where a man has the attempt to tax credits in Ohio money is not returned for from $5,000 to $10,000. The rate of interest on the rate of the state is 10 per cent in the average.

GLOBE SIGHTS.

Some people make money by spending it.

Don't always be sour if you want the sweets of life.

In keeping a scrapbook about yourself, don't keep everything.

More than half the men who have enthusiasm, use it uselessly.

When you make one mistake don't make another by trying to lie out of it.

If you are sick, the best thing to do is to quit eating; or eat very much less.

How's the team business? was asked a tramp today. "Bum," he replied.

Traveling men bother a store keeper as much as drunken men bother an editor.

Nothing in this world is quite as cheerful as a lodge organizer's "good morning."

When a girl is very attentive to married men, the women say she has married men-it is.

In buying cantaloupes, you hardly ever get a good one. Same way with everything else.

Do a good act, and you are credited with two. Do a mean act, and you are credited with ten.

Work done in a manner that will require its being done over is worse than neglecting it entirely.

Some women have a mannish way of chewing and it makes one wonder if they are chewing tobacco.

No power on earth could cause us to be impressed by a man who carries his handkerchief in his coat tails.

After the dance is over, how many men try to make an entirely new set of arrangements with the ladies?

After reading physical culture books and health food advertisements, it is hard for a man to believe he will ever die.

The young men who call on the girls every night, and then play a matinee three or four afternoons of every week, are always worthless.

Occasionally you see a stout middle-aged woman who tries to look stylish by wearing a dress made with a yoke and buttoned up the back.

"Liberty," said a woman, contemptuously, "there isn't a man in town who dares say his soul is his own, and now I can't wear a bird on my hat."

You young people! don't forget that health is greatly prized in old age. Young people can stand abuses to their health in youth, but terrible interest is collected later on.

When a man moves to another town and has it in for the town he left, you can depend upon it that he has never done anything to help the town along, and was an undesirable citizen.

When one of the town boys imports a bride, people naturally expect to see a beauty, none of the town girls suited him. But when she comes, they feel as they do when they taste the first cantaloupe of the season, disappointed.

The Lamp of a Man's Life. Dr. Holmes said the lamp of a man's life has three wicks—brain, blood and breath—and to turn down any one of them makes the other two go out. The wick of the brain is the most delicate and the most easily extinguished. The wick of the blood is the most abundant and the most easily replenished. The wick of the breath is the most constant and the most easily maintained. The lamp of a man's life is a delicate and beautiful thing, and it is up to him to keep it burning brightly. The Ways of Boston.

The crooked streets of Boston are said to follow the old paths along which the early mothers of the place drove their cows to and from their pasture on the common. However true this may be, it is certain that many of the main streets of the old city proper mark geographic features, formerly of importance, but now almost entirely forgotten. Atlantic avenue follows closely the original shore line; Washington street preserves in its curves the old road along the narrow neck of land which was the only connection for a long time between the mainland and Boston peninsula, with its three hills, which gave the name Tremont; Causeway street represents the dam to the earliest tidal mill pond, and Beacon street, the "mill dam," was built later to hold back the waters of Back bay at high tide to be used for power at low tide; the curve of Park square gives the shore line of this Back bay, where the fathers and grandfathers of the present generation used to put on their skates to glide over the area now occupied by Trinity church and the Public Library.—F. F. Gulliver in Journal of Geography.

Living, Yet Dead.

In a German law journal may be found a curious account of a woman who, though actually living, is legally dead. Some years ago she disappeared from her home, and after three years had elapsed the court formally pronounced her dead and turned over her property to her next of kin. Soon afterward she returned to her native place, and as there was no question as to her identity she naturally thought that she would have no difficulty in recovering her property. The court, however, flatly refused to comply with her request. "You have been declared dead," it virtually said, "and it is impossible for us to regard you as living."

Thereupon the woman appealed to a higher court, but her labor was in vain. For the verdict of the lower court was upheld, and, moreover, an official notice was issued to the effect that the plaintiff, having formally been declared dead, could not now be restored to life, as the law understands that word, and must remain dead until doomsday.

The Russian Bride.

A Russian bride has a very much more trying time on her wedding day than has her American sister, for she must fast until after the ceremony is over and that after enduring the trials of a "farewell party" the day before. As the wedding, to be fashionable, must not take place till the evening, it is easy to imagine in what an exhausted state the bride often enters on her new life. Besides bridesmaids there are also bridesmaids, who have to provide the bridesmaids with sweetmeats. The number of bridesmaids is unlimited, and they are not dressed alike. Following the bride procession is carried a picture in gold and silver of Christ, which is stationed against the altar. The bride's old nurse is intrusted with the removal of the bride's dowry from her father's house to that of her future husband.

A Million For Advice.

Sometimes a man pays a lawyer well. There is a persistent story, which probably will never be printed as to names and details, that a famous trust magnate paid a lawyer a million dollars in cash for simply saying to him: "Don't fight. If you insist on fighting I will take your case. But if you fight remember all your books will be opened and all your methods disclosed." The bewildering munificence of that instant fee of a million was a record for wise philanthropy which showed the genius of the philanthropist. Never was a fee better earned if the tale is true.—Everybody's Magazine.

A Cautious Answer.

A writer on New England and New England people some years ago said that the caution of the New Englander in giving an answer to a direct question was illustrated to him one day when he asked an eastern friend whose family were not noted for very active habits, "Was not your father's death very sudden?"

Slowly drawing one hand from his pocket and pulling down his beard the interrogated cautiously replied, "Was, rather sudden for him."

Heroic Measure.

"I'm after a servant girl," said Hans-keep, "one with a good, big appetite preferred."

"That's rather an unusual request," began the employment agent.

"Well, I've got to put a stop to this business of having things warmed over the next day,"—Philadelphia Press.

The Lamp of a Man's Life.

Dr. Holmes said the lamp of a man's life has three wicks—brain, blood and breath—and to turn down any one of them makes the other two go out. The wick of the brain is the most delicate and the most easily extinguished. The wick of the blood is the most abundant and the most easily replenished. The wick of the breath is the most constant and the most easily maintained. The lamp of a man's life is a delicate and beautiful thing, and it is up to him to keep it burning brightly. Beware of Particularity.

Whatever may be there may be in the instrument called man cannot be brought out fully and entirely until a woman takes it in charge and plays upon the strings of it.—New Orleans Times-Delta.

Unfortunately the Only Way.

"Of course you wouldn't marry a title?" "Not if there was any other way of getting one," answered the severely practical girl.—Chicago Post.

The Russian Bride.

A Russian bride has a very much more trying time on her wedding day than has her American sister, for she must fast until after the ceremony is over and that after enduring the trials of a "farewell party" the day before. As the wedding, to be fashionable, must not take place till the evening, it is easy to imagine in what an exhausted state the bride often enters on her new life. Besides bridesmaids there are also bridesmaids, who have to provide the bridesmaids with sweetmeats. The number of bridesmaids is unlimited, and they are not dressed alike. Following the bride procession is carried a picture in gold and silver of Christ, which is stationed against the altar. The bride's old nurse is intrusted with the removal of the bride's dowry from her father's house to that of her future husband.

A Million For Advice.

Sometimes a man pays a lawyer well. There is a persistent story, which probably will never be printed as to names and details, that a famous trust magnate paid a lawyer a million dollars in cash for simply saying to him: "Don't fight. If you insist on fighting I will take your case. But if you fight remember all your books will be opened and all your methods disclosed." The bewildering munificence of that instant fee of a million was a record for wise philanthropy which showed the genius of the philanthropist. Never was a fee better earned if the tale is true.—Everybody's Magazine.

A Cautious Answer.

A writer on New England and New England people some years ago said that the caution of the New Englander in giving an answer to a direct question was illustrated to him one day when he asked an eastern friend whose family were not noted for very active habits, "Was not your father's death very sudden?"

Slowly drawing one hand from his pocket and pulling down his beard the interrogated cautiously replied, "Was, rather sudden for him."

Heroic Measure.

"I'm after a servant girl," said Hans-keep, "one with a good, big appetite preferred."

"That's rather an unusual request," began the employment agent.

"Well, I've got to put a stop to this business of having things warmed over the next day,"—Philadelphia Press.

FARM ORCHARD
GARDEN BY J. S. TRIGG.

Green wood, air dried, will lose about 37 per cent in weight.

A boy friend asks where the swifts built their nests before man built the chimneys. They used hollow trees.

Just so long as hogs bring $5 and the chickens stay off, just so long will the farmers of the corn belt continue to make a lot of money.

The Jersey cattle are much more attractive alive than dead. When slaughtered, the carcass is of such a deep red low color as to be almost repulsive.

The windstorm which thrashes one-half of the half grown fruit from the heavily loaded tree is instead of a calamity usually a blessing in disguise.

The traction engine hauling a gang of sixteen inch plows does the work of twelve good horses and does it better. It does its best work where the fields are a mile long, as in North Dakota.

The government just as to the effect of borax used in food products as a preservative is completed. The squad of young men upon whom the test was made have survived and are in good condition.

If tramps begging a hand out would clothe themselves in a pair of overalls and a warm instead of a faded dress suit and wear a fifteen cent clip hat instead of a battered derby they would meet with a more kindly reception.

There are millions of unemployed acres in the south and west which will successfully grow alfalfa, and where alfalfa can be grown there is a very profitable type of agriculture because even if but few other crops can be grown.

An Indian Territory farmer this year raised 10,000 bushels of potatoes which brought him about 75 cents per bushel.
The crop was off the ground the last of June and was then planted to corn.
This two crop farming looks as if it was quite a bonanza.

The putting into use of ten wide tire wagons in a community will do more to further the cause of good roads than the holding of a good roads convention with its humdrum resolutions and speeches. The wide tire wagon and the cash road tax are the beginnings of better highways.

The dairymen will find it profitable to keep his cows in a darkened basement barn from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. during the extreme heat of the dog days.
When the flies are doing their worst.
A ration of some suitable cooling crop should be fed them in the barn and they allowed the run of the pasture all night. This course will not only assure comfort for the cows, but a much increased milk production.

The seed men of the country are uniting to protect against and prevent if possible the seed business carried on by the general government. We wish them success. The government seed business is a public fraud. If you don't believe it come to our garden and see a dozen hills of a money muskmelon sent out by the department as a new kind of cucumber. Then, if cutting off the seed distribution should relieve a lot of congressmen from public life, it will be another mighty good thing. Just as long as this practice prevails we will have a whole lot of seedy representatives in congress.

It is a hard thing to attempt to answer an inquiry as to which is the best variety of strawberry to plant. There are many good kinds. Some kinds do well on some soils and poorly on other soils. Among the best all round berries in the matter of adaptability to varying conditions of soil and climate we would place the Wardwell, Beder Wood and Ganley. The old Crescent, the Clyde, the Brandywine, the Sample, have many admirers. If one is going to set out a bed the best way is to get plants of that variety which does best in one's own locality; see the man who raises the most and the best berries.

A light Brahman hen belonging to a neighbor, with her brood of twenty-six half her own and half adopted, wandered into our garden one day lately and made straight for the potato patch, where there was an abundance of the half grown stings of the Colorado beetle at work on the vines. Then followed something which we never noted before—the old hen feeding her chicks these stings until they could hold no more. Our previous experience had been that neither poultry of any kind nor any wild birds would touch these pests under any circumstances. This was one case where the neighbor's chickens in the gardens proved a blessing.

THE CLIMATE OF THE NORTHWEST.

The northwest leads in the great variety of its climatic conditions. Far removed from ocean influences, it has a climate all its own and of the extreme sort. No monotony about it. We have a taste of all climates found anywhere on earth and some which are found nowhere else. It is nature's grand experimental laboratory, the place where Leyden jars, electric batteries, refrigerators, furnaces and motors, manipulated by the great chemist of the universe, evolve and liberate the snow-capped cumulo-cloud mountain surcharged with its awful voltage of electricity and burden of tropical humidity; where is cradled the cyclone demon of the air, the laboratory combination of mysterious forces; where is set free the blizzard, the incandescent spirit of vast polar seas and mighty refrigerators; a climate whose furnaces give an equatorial heat and a tropical summer, and whose refrigerators invest us with an arctic temperature in winter. Intermingled with these extremes are other types—serene and peaceful days when the earth smiles and blossoms at the heaven's tender caress, nights so calm and silent that were it not for the night cry of the whippoorwill, the chirp of a tree toad or the distant barking of a dog the set heavers might seem to look down upon an uninhabited world. Under these forceful and constantly changing climatic conditions the very best there is in man is being brought out and developed; he becomes of necessity vigilant, energetic, aggressive; the defiant spirit of the pioneer is kindled; he is not content with the sun and the moon, and the great wind, the heat and the cold, the turmoil and calm, there is being evolved—there is nowhere else—a type of manhood and womanhood unexcelled on earth.

STORY OF A COMMON FARM BOY.

This young man has made a success of himself anyway. He was the son of a small farmer—a common country boy—milked the cows, plowed the corn and, frolicked and barefooted, cut up pranks at the district school. When he was eighteen his ambition had become aroused to know more about his business of farming and so he determined if possible to secure a thorough agricultural education at one of our best colleges. He dug away for four years, often pinched for money, and living a life of absolute self denial so far as the personal pleasures common to young men were concerned. He was determined to learn all he could, and burn it thoroughly and well. So well did he succeed that when he graduated a place was waiting for him at a salary of $200 per year as manager of a large stock farm, and now, on his second year he commands a salary of $2,000 per year. He is acquiring a wide range of stock knowledge, broader and deeper than in a financial way he would ever be as the manager of his own business. He is not quite twenty-five years old yet and his future is assured.
The point worth noting by other boys in his case is that he wanted to do something and be somebody, that he was willing to undergo the hardships incident to securing the education desired and patiently and persistently insisted for the accomplishment of his purpose. The reward in his case was just as sure and just as logical a result as are poverty, loss of self respect and failure the results of laziness, un-thrift and foolishness.

WHAT CHANGED HIM?

He was fifty years old and lived on a farm. He had been all his life what we know as a pretty hard case; would get drunk and bum around every so often, was useless and wickedly profane, paid no regard to the Sabbath, was hard in his dealings with his neighbors, brutish in his home and not infrequently struck and abused his good wife. He was rich and was simply endured and despised by all the decent people of his community. By some strange chance he was brought under the influence of a good minister who was conducting some revival meetings in his neighborhood and, as we term it, was converted. Now note the change. He quit drinking and swearing and abusing his wife and children, observed the Sabbath as a day of rest and went to church with his family, became kind to the dumb animals on his farm and dealt honestly and squarely with his neighbors.
What changed this man? Call it an old woman's fable, superstition or bigotry, or what you please, it made a new man of him and was a good thing, anyhow. This happened ten years ago, and he is a good man and neighbor today.

SOME THINGS BOYS SHOULD KNOW.

The mother will do her boy a great kindness if she will teach him when young to make his bed, darn a hole in his pants, wash his shirt and underclothing, sew buttons on his clothes, make a batch of biscuits, broil a piece of meat, keep his room in order and wash dishes. The teaching of the boy these homely duties will not in any manner make a girl of him, but will rather make of him a smarter and a better boy—a more independent one;
will thus fit him to do much to minister to his own comfort when he is thrown upon his own resources or when he has a home of his own enable him to be a useful man around the house and assist his wife. We know of one woman, the mother of four sons, whom she has so well trained along these lines that they are a most valuable help to her and make her independent of hired help in the home, and a nicer lot of boys can't be found than these.

those careless, little workers—Dr.

always at work, night and day, curing indigestion, biliousness, consti-

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep when in a low state of health, or sick and worn out with work or worry.

S. S. S. improves the appetite, aids the digestion and reinforces the system, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating.

S. S. S. is not only the best tonic but possesses attractive or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood it searches it out, and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by a blood purifier

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Sympathy for the Phonograph.

George W. Peck, ex-governor of Wisconsin and creator of the most unduly boy in fiction, was induced to drop a penny in the slot and listen to a phonograph, says the Detroit Free Press. "That thing is almost human,"
said a gentleman from the interior who was the governor's guest.

"I am sincerely glad that it is not entirely human," answered Mr. Peck, as the penny's worth of music still vibrated upon the atmosphere.

This remark caused a prolonged
'why' to proceed from the other.

"Just imagine," mused the sympathetic governor, "how the poor machine would have suffered while a woman was transferring that awful shriek into its interior!"

"Joshing" the Parson.

"My friend are you a Christian?" asked an aged Baptist minister of the man who was chatting his seat in a suburban train.

"Sure," said the man.

"What a denomination, might I ask?"

"Baptist," said the man, and he was as much taken as anything else.

"Then you have been immersed of course," observed the man of the cloth.

"No never immersed," replied the man, but seeing the look of disappointment on the other's face, he added
"I have been soaked several times."

"That seat was silent until the train reached Yonkers, when the minister left it."

A WAY OPEN

Many a Lima Reader Knows It Well.

There is a way open to convince the greatest skeptic. Scores of Lima people have made it possible. The public statement of their experience is proof, the like of which has never been produced before in Lima. Read this case of it given by a citizen—

Mrs. I. L. Floyd, of 215 North Pine street says: "I suffered for eight or nine years with dull aching pains through my loins making me feel miserable all the time. I could not rest well, had to be careful if I stood and the kidney secretions became irregular and variable. I tried different remedies, but did not receive much benefit and suffered a great deal.
Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I procured a box at
the treatment until cured."

Insufficient.

A couple of charming young country girls, sisters, anticipating a week's pleasure at the seashore, sent the following letter to the editor of the woman's department of one of the city dailies:

"We are two sisters, and never having been at the shore, are a little in-doubt about our bathing costume.
Would a costume of this description be all right: Black mohair waist with white trimmings and short sleeves and skirt of same material coming just below the knee?"

The answer was: "Very pretty—but have two."—New York Times.

NEW Offices Are Being Built
At the Shops.
The Clerks Will Have a Modern Home
After the Changes Are Made for Which Plans Are Submitted.
Master Mechanic Gould Is Also Making Some Improvements and Has the Men With Him.

Superintendent Cory and his clerks will soon be installed in a suite of offices which will be up-to-date and modern in every particular. The entrance is to be changed which will give access from McKibben street through a vestibule to the main offices situated on the story above.

The headquarters of the motive power department have been anything but what the situation demanded, and the improvements now being made will greatly assist in giving to the clerks a place for individual work. The C. H. & D. has realized the necessity of many improvements around the shops and in every branch, whether it be the official or branch work. Money is being expended to bring the shops up to the standard which characterize them as the best equipped in the state.

Object to Telephones.
After extensive experiments, the management of the Erie has decided to equip the entire system with telephones at an expense of nearly $1,500,000. E. P. Griffith, superintendent has completed arrangements for installation from Chicago to New York. The telephone operators are said to be preparing a protest upon the alleged ground that the combined use of single wire for telegraph and telephone purposes makes the former uncertain and imperfect. One conversant with the situation, however, says that fear that the telephone will supplant the telegraph in train operation is the real reason back of the protest. —Huntington Journal.

Along All Lines.
Supt. C. H. Cory of the motive department is in Indianapolis on business.

C. H. & D. engine 201 is in the shops for a new fire box and general overhauling.

Master Mechanic Gould, recently appointed to that office for the C. H. & D. has made himself right with the boys connected with the various departments and although a number of changes have been made from the old form, they will stand by him in his effort to improve conditions.

Traveling passenger engineer F. O. Miller, was in the city yesterday on business.

The new iron rack capable of holding 100 tons, has been erected next to the store room and is a new addition to the C. H. & D. shops.

T. F. Clark, foreman of the C. H. & D. paint shops, accompanied by his wife, is in Chicago, attending the national association.

Ovation Is Given Clarke,
The Candidate
Of the People for United States Senator.
Without Evasion He Tells Northwestern Ohio Democrats
His Position on All Questions, and In a Brilliant and Masterly Address He Arraigns Sen. Hanna.

Napoleon, O., Sept. 2.—The democratic campaign was opened in this city yesterday, in an auspicious manner. Thousands came to listen to the democratic nominee for United States senator, Hon. John H. Clarke, and they awaited anxiously his declarations pertaining to himself and on party issues as presented by the state democratic platform. On no point was Mr. Clarke evasive. He began his address by referring to the statement made at Columbus after the convention, that he would find the north-west an enemy to him, and then launched into the following frank statement of his position toward that part of the platform relating to the financial doctrine represented in the person of William Jennings Bryan. He said:

"The reason given why I would find hostility among the democrats of this part of the state, was that I did not support Mr. Bryan in 1896. This is true. I did not support him in that year. Reluctantly, after the fullest study of the question that I could give it, I concluded that it would not be for the best interests of my country to adopt the policy of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Some democrats and many republicans add that I supported McKinley, that I organized McKinley clubs and voted for him. All this is false. I supported Palmer and Buckner in that year. In the year 1900, when the paramount issue was imperialism, I supported Mr. Bryan with all the resources in my power, and made speeches for him in all the considerable towns and cities in the east half of Ohio.

"I was chairman of his great meeting in the city of Cleveland, the greatest I ever saw in that year, and supported him, as I say, throughout the canvass and voted for him. Since that time, I have been active upon the stump in each campaign, and have supported Mayor Johnson in every one of his 5 victorious canvasses over Mr. Hanna in the city of Cleveland. I think I am within the word when I say that I have made as many, if not more democratic speeches since the year 1900 than any man in Ohio except Mr. Johnson. Gentlemen, this is my record. I have nothing for which to apologize and nothing to conceal. If you desire a representative in the United States senate who is without opinions of his own, and who is without sufficient independence to stand upon his conclusions when he has reached them, you should not support me in this canvass, for I am not that kind of a man. I have been thus frank and open with you, gentlemen, because I positively refuse to make a canvass for United States senator in Ohio, in which there is anything of evasion or equivocation, and I would not for any official reward or honor in this world deal with the people of Ohio in a double sense.

"Thus, gentlemen, you are to choose between Mr. Hanna and myself, for one or the other of us is to be the next Senator elected from this state. I agree with many of you on all these things; I disagree with some of you on one point. Mr. Hanna, upon the contrary, disagrees with every one of you upon every single thing that you believe important to a proper administration of the affairs of this government. Choose between us, gentlemen. That is the duty that is before you in this campaign.

"There was no demonstration of hostility at any time during this address, but, on the contrary, Mr. Clarke was repeatedly applauded.

He also replied to the charge of chairman Dick, of the republican state committee, that he was a corporation lawyer, by admitting it. He answered Dick:

"But if General Dick tells you the whole truth, he will say, for he knows me that no corporation or corporation manager ever thought that he or it ever harmed one hair of my head," he said.

Quoting the saying of Wendell Phillips that revolutions never go backward, he asserted that the platform in 1896 and 1900 in the nation, and those of the past two years in the state, constituted such a movement. To proclaim otherwise would commit the party to barbarism. He had no sympathy with those who wanted to turn their backs to the future and to reorganize the party on the principles that were in issue ten or twelve years ago. The world was moving onward and he heartily joined with those who were looking forward and not backward.

After a discussion of the national issues, in which he said that the vaunted prosperity was on the brink of collapse, and that capital and labor stood aghast in the presence of impending panic, he gave his indorsement to the state platform, which, he said, was sane and sensible and not a collection of fads and fancies, as the republicans charged. As a railway lawyer he indorsed the two cents a mile plank and said it would benefit those corporations as well as the people. He was against the use of passes and said that only republican leaders favored them. The railroads did not. He indorsed the injunction plank, and said that persons accused of contempt should have jury trials, under certain circumstances, before punishment was imposed.

He scored tremendously by quoting the celebrated interview of Senator Hanna at the extraordinary session last year, in which he said that his street railroad was his savings bank, and rather than quit he would give up politics. The senator was impressively charged with using his high office to subvert his private interests. Closing the speaker said that, if elected, he would dispose of the stock that he held in two national banks, and any other interest that might be taken to influence his vote. To guard against this being taken up as a piece of political claptrap, he quoted the example of Allen G. Thurman, who, when chosen as senator, sold the United States bonds in which his savings were invested, in order that he might do his duty unhampered by personal interest.

Is Accepted By Bryan for United States Senator.

Versailles, O. Sept. 2.—Many thousands of people gathered here yesterday, to hear Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, many attracted by the personality of the man, and many more to ascertain his attitude toward the democratic nominee for U. S. senator. Great was the rejoicing of the multitude when he took Mr. Clarke into fellowship, because of his hearty sympathy with the purposes of the democratic organization and its platform of principles. There were, he said, two classes of Democrats who went astray in 1896, one because of their convictions and the other because of selfish interests. There was hope for one because their hearts were right, and none for the other because their hearts were bad. The first class contained Mr. Clarke, he believed, and he was ready to advise democrats to vote for him to take the place of Mark Hanna in the senate of the United States.

Mr. Bryan talked ably and forcibly for Tom Johnson, for governor, and endorsed the platform plank by plank.

The versatile base ball editor for the Cincinnati Enquirer, sent the following summary of the last game between the Red's and Chicago:

"In a wildly exciting game that was full of thrills from the time little Evers choked 'Sl' Seymour to death at the home plate in the first until Kel ran into the deep weeds in left for Kling's shot in the ninth, the Reds put their mark on a contest that gave them a clear title to the season's series with the Cubs. Phillips pitched like a Matthews, and was given support that the Pirates couldn't beat.

Carl Lundgren, the Illinoisan, was not hard hit, and two Cub fall-downs in the ninth prevented a 1 to 0 score from proving the full measure of his discomfiture. Screaming stops and star-spangled catches were scattered along the route like twinkles in the milky way. There were enough features of play to fill a hair-covered trunk. Two Reds and one Cub met hold-up men at the plate. Steinfield and Corcoran both made a mess of pick-ups that were dodo birds and the Texan was cheered for a bump into the fence after he had caught and held Tinker's foul. Daily threw himself into the breach at a ticklish moment, and made a throw from short right to third that resembled one of the Steinfield pattern. The feat winged a Cub runner and shut off a Chicago run. Both teams fought with demon-like tenacity for victory. Chicago wanted to win and the Cincinnati on the series, but the strain was too much, and during a momentary weakness at the finish, Cincinnati dragged in two runs they didn't need."
